

Winterization Needs of Displaced Populations In the Kurdistan Region-Iraq

Report No. (22),5 December 2018

Executive Summary

Since the outbreak of the Syrian civil war in 2012 and the invasion of ISIS in June 2014, the Kurdistan Region has hosted a large population of Syrian refugees and internally displaced Iraqis. Some of the displaced families have returned to their places of origin while new displacements have resulted in the arrival of new families over the past year. As of the publication of this report, an estimated 1.5 million IDPs and refugees remain in the Kurdistan Region, hosted in 38 camps and within host communities in Erbil, Duhok and Slemani governorates. Winter conditions are particularly difficult in the Kurdistan Region and a significant portion of the displaced families lack adequate living conditions and essential items to protect them from the severe winter conditions. Therefore, in this report the JCC has consolidated information regarding critical winterization needs for camp and non-camp refugee and IDP populations in the Region. UNHCR and other partners have started to provide cash for kerosene for the most vulnerable families, but it is unlikely that they be able to cover all IDPs and refugees inside and outside camps.

Table 1 presents an overview of winterization needs of 237,360 displaced families in the three provinces of Erbil, Duhok and Slemani to including items such as tents/cabinets, heaters and gas canisters, kerosene, shoes, coats and winter clothing for different age groups and batter driven lamps.

Table 2 presents a detailed breakdown per governorate and population group.

JCC calls on the Federal Government of Iraq and the international community to mobilise resources and support the KRG in meeting these critical winterization needs. Failure to do so will result in the suffering of thousands of vulnerable IDPs and refugees, particularly young children, the elderly, the sick and those with special needs.
